- Handout PDF (preferred format) and/or website address where materials can be accessed.

Note: If you are including a handout created by someone other than you, please be sure to get permission from the creator before you submit.

Be sure to checkout 2014 SOUTHERN ILLINOIS ART EDUCATION CONFERENCE Within Our Reach!

It is a mini conference in southern Illinois on Friday, February 21st, Southern Illinois University Carbondale.

Keynote Luncheon with Guest speaker, Peter London.
Peter London is a teacher of courses, workshops, and in-service teacher training. The courses and workshops that I teach, first provide a safe and supportive environment, where it is safe to say what you know about the life that you have, nothing more and nothing less, and to also describe the life that you would prefer...

We make wonderful art because wonder is the natural result of sincere effort linked to full employment of each persons unique constellation of mind, body and spirit, unafraid to be exercised...

ADVOCACY ACTION UPDATE!
Illinois State University Art Teacher Education Program Presents:

Want to have your work as well as

Searching and searching, what is the meaning of life?
What is the balance of life?
A cowgirl's taming a wild stallion is a narrative progressive self portrait of this quest.

Accumulated daily life repurposed food wrappers from the U.S. and Asia and plastic file folders are sewn together creating installation of stationary puppet sculptures that live, breathe, and speak through materials, textual concepts, gestures, positioning, scale, and shadows.

They speak of restoring balance within by taming and training the wild stallion, wild mind.
They speak of restoring balance with the environment by repurposing materials usually discarded as landfill.
They speak of restoring balance between all beings using thread as a bridge between cultures, melding the cowgirl and the stallion mind into

One.

Art is life, and life is art. Home is where the heart is, mind is, and mind is the only true avant-garde in art, in life, Humanistic Spirituality.

The quest leads back home, where the mind is trained and practiced, back to where it all started, to blessed emptiness.

Teacher Educators and Accomplished teachers

Pearson is in need of Art educators to score edTPA! edTPA is designed for the profession by the profession, edTPA was developed by teachers and teacher educators from across the nation, in collaboration with faculty and staff from Stanford University, to support candidate learning and preparation program growth and renewal. Aligned with the Common Core State Standards and InTASC Standards, edTPA assesses teaching that promotes student learning in diverse contexts.

edTPA is a subject-specific assessment of pedagogy, available in 27 teaching fields, that requires pre-service candidates to document and demonstrate that they can plan, teach, and assess major learning outcomes within their field of expertise. Pearson is hiring teacher educators and accomplished teachers to score edTPA from a secure, private location such as a home or office. Qualified candidates will complete training, pass a qualification and then score edTPA assessments. Scoring training includes about 20 hours of self-paced online modules and interactive web-based sessions, once qualified, scoring will begin. The system is available for online-training and scoring 6am - 11:59pm CST seven days a week.

The position requires a part-time commitment, in addition to the following:

- Expertise in the subject matter or developmental level of the teaching field (degree and/or professional experience)
- Teaching experience in that field (or teaching methods or supervising student teachers in that field)
- Experience mentoring or supervising beginning teachers

Scoring is currently underway and we would greatly appreciate your time to submit an application to participate.
